

Press release

Paris, 9 December 2009

Wallix, the leading provider of IT traceability and access control solutions, is extending its network of partners by signing up several major integrators.

The increased demand for information system security in all sectors has led Wallix to expand its network of partners by certifying several leading integrators.

Alcatel, Brain Networks, Cap Synergy, C2i, Exaprobe, IPEnergy, Nes Tech and Securiview have all recently signed partnership agreements with Wallix and passed the publisher's Gold certification.

Thanks to these agreements, companies will benefit from a high-level service based on Wallix IT traceability solutions and the quality of service offered by well-known players in IT security.

IT security managers now demand proven technologies and integrated solutions, particularly in the areas of access control and the traceability of the operations carried out on their IT systems.

With Wallix AdminBastion (WAB), Wallix guarantees better control over IT service providers and more secure management of access to companies' sensitive equipment and information. WAB also complies with new IT security standards by recording the operations performed on the systems.

The partnerships established by Wallix will also ensure companies receive a guarantee of lasting success in the form of support in their IT deployment from leading partners, with the skills to make the most of WALLIX's innovative tools in their business context.

Jean-Noël de Galzain, CEO of Wallix, confirms this: "By partnering with recognised specialists, Wallix offers its customers a range that combines the innovation of WAB with durable high-quality services. Faced with the very significant demand for access transparency and traceability, we are continuing our development in the IT security market by basing our services on trusted, certified partners who can provide the best response to our customers' needs. "

Wallix now has 15 partners, of which 8 are certified.

The publisher intends to continue this quality partnership policy during 2010 to provide the best response to requirements in France and throughout Europe.

About Wallix

Wallix is the French leader in open-source IT security software.

With expert skills in network security and managing critical IT infrastructure, the company meets emerging access control and traceability needs with a simple, economical approach. Wallix favours solutions which do not involve installing specific agents on hardware and are easily integrated into the customer's IT system.

The company supplies Wallix AdminBastion (WAB), an innovative traceability tool that allows organisations to control connections and record all the operations carried out on a company's devices or IT infrastructure in accordance with new security standards. Wallix solutions are marketed through a network of reseller partners and IT integrators.

Wallix leads the AdminProxy, Deskolo and OpenGPU projects, supported by the FUI and the Ile de France region. The company is supported by Oseo Innovation and the PM'UP programme and is a partner of the System@tic Paris Région cluster. It is supported by private investors including the Access2Net, Sopromec, Hedera and Venturi Capital funds.
